Native American Encampment

The Native American Heritage Mobile Museum is sponsored by the Native Americans of Kentucky. The museum promotes an understanding of the Native American history and beliefs of past indigenous people as well as those who continue to carry on the tribal traditions of today. Behind the museum visit the Native American Camp and see how life may have been in the 1700’s, before the spread of European settlers. Finger weaving, moccasin making, and hide tanning are some of the on-going skills you may discover exploring their camp.
